

Non-Disclosure Agreement

EscapeBase44's confidentiality undertaking towards every customer whose app it migrates.

RECIPIENT

EscapeBase44

Daniel Frishtik, a registered business based in Tel Aviv, Israel ("EscapeBase44").

DISCLOSER

Customer

ByteChew Soft Inc., a software company based in Québec, Canada ("Customer"), for its application Agricote.

01 Purpose

EscapeBase44 accesses the Customer's Base44 app, and the accounts the Customer connects, solely to evaluate the app and prepare an offer, to migrate the app onto infrastructure the Customer owns if the Customer proceeds, and to provide the post-migration features the Customer chooses to use.

02 Confidential Information

Everything EscapeBase44 accesses for that purpose — the app's code, data, files, users, configuration, secrets and credentials — and anything derived from it, including the migration output ("Confidential Information").

03 Obligations

- 01 Use only for the purpose. No other use of any kind — no analytics, no training of AI models, no reuse in any other product or for any other customer.
- 02 No disclosure. EscapeBase44 will not disclose Confidential Information to any third party.
- 03 No retention. EscapeBase44 does not keep the Customer's code, data or files beyond what performing the evaluation or the migration itself requires. The access the Customer grants is used only for the evaluation, the migration and the features the Customer chooses to use, and the Customer can revoke it at any time. If the Customer decides not to proceed, the result of the evaluation is deleted.
- 04 Security. Confidential Information is handled encrypted, in transit and at rest.
- 05 Ownership. The Customer retains all rights to its code, data and migration output. EscapeBase44 claims no rights in any of it.
- 06 Term. These obligations apply from the moment EscapeBase44 first accesses Confidential Information, including during the evaluation and whether or not the Customer proceeds after it, and continue indefinitely.

Where the Customer requires its own non-disclosure agreement, EscapeBase44 will sign it.
